Florida Department of Children and Families
Independent Living Transition Services
Outcome Measures and Oversight Activities
January – December 2015

I. Background

Sections 39.6251 and 409.1451, Florida Statutes, require the Department of Children and Families to administer a system of independent living services to enable older children in foster care and young adults in foster care at age 18 to make the transition to self-sufficiency as adults. The goals of these services are to assist older children and young adults who are in foster care to make meaningful connections and obtain the life skills necessary to achieve their education and employment goals. These services are also focused on empowering the young adult to seek a quality of life appropriate for their age and to assume personal responsibility for becoming self-sufficient adults. Florida's Independent Living Program is outsourced to 17 Community-Based Care (CBC) lead agencies.

II. Purpose

This report provides information required in subsection 409.1451(6), F.S., as follows:

1. An analysis of performance on the outcome measures developed under this section reported for each CBC lead agency.
2. A description of the Department's oversight of the program, including, by lead agency, any programmatic or fiscal deficiencies found, corrective actions required and current status of compliance.
3. Any rules adopted or proposed under this section since the last report.

The activities described in this report occurred from January 2015 through December 2015, unless otherwise noted.

Oversight of Florida's Independent Living Transition Services Program is also provided by the Independent Living Services Advisory Council (ILSAC). ILSAC was created by the Florida Legislature with the purpose of reviewing and making recommendations concerning the implementation and operation of independent living services.

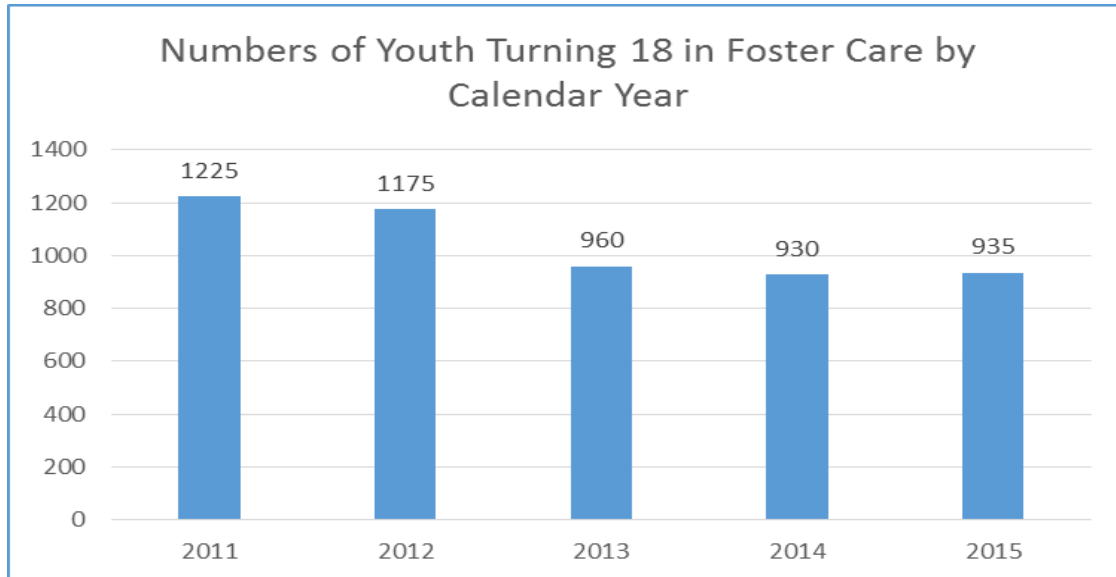

III. Outcome Measures for Community-Based Care Lead Agencies

There are no Independent Living specific contract measures in the CBC contracts. There are, however, expectations to administer the program in accordance with Florida Statute and Florida Administrative Code and to participate in monitoring activities through system driven data, self-report surveys, contract oversight unit monitoring, fiscal oversight and quality assurance activities.

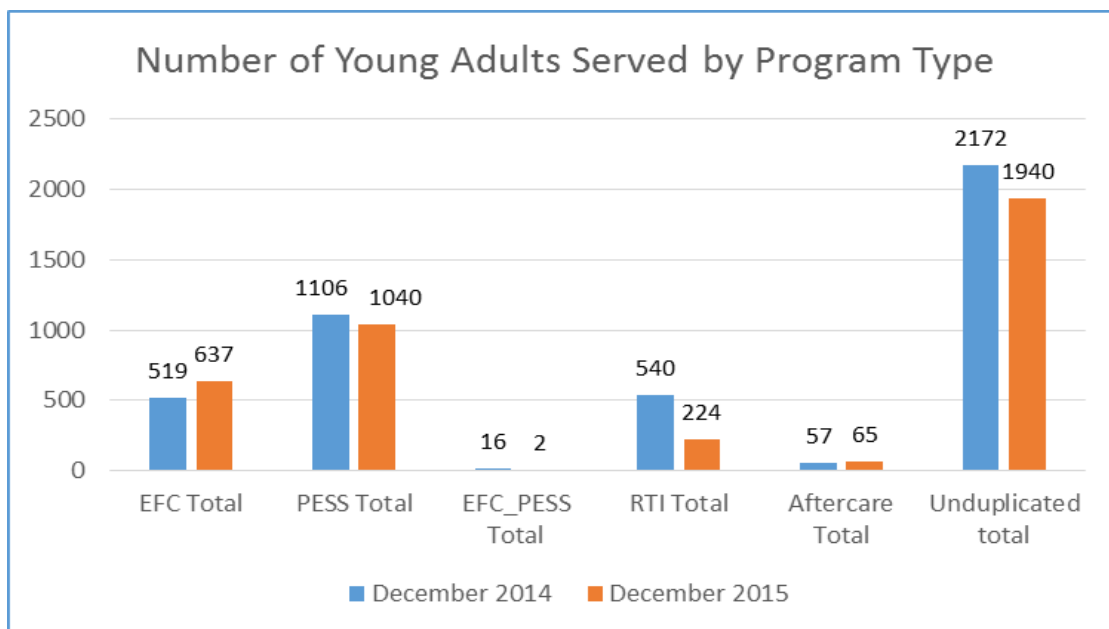

System Driven Data

A. Numbers Served

The number of youth exiting the foster care system at age 18 has been declining since 2011 as seen in the below chart. This reduction in exits reduces the number of children entering Independent Living Programs. This reduction can be seen in the second chart. As Extended Foster Care was a new program effective January 1, 2014, the numbers in this program have increased.

* EFC = Extended Foster Care, PESS = Postsecondary Education Services and Supports, RTI = Road to Independence.

B. Education

Percent of Young Adults in Foster Care at Age 18 who have completed or are enrolled in secondary education

This contract and scorecard measure calculates the percent of young adults in foster care at age 18 who have completed or are enrolled in secondary education. The frequency of measurement is quarterly and the standard is 80%. The algorithm uses a rolling twelve (12) month period through the end of the month prior to the month being reported. The below chart depicts statewide performance for 2015.

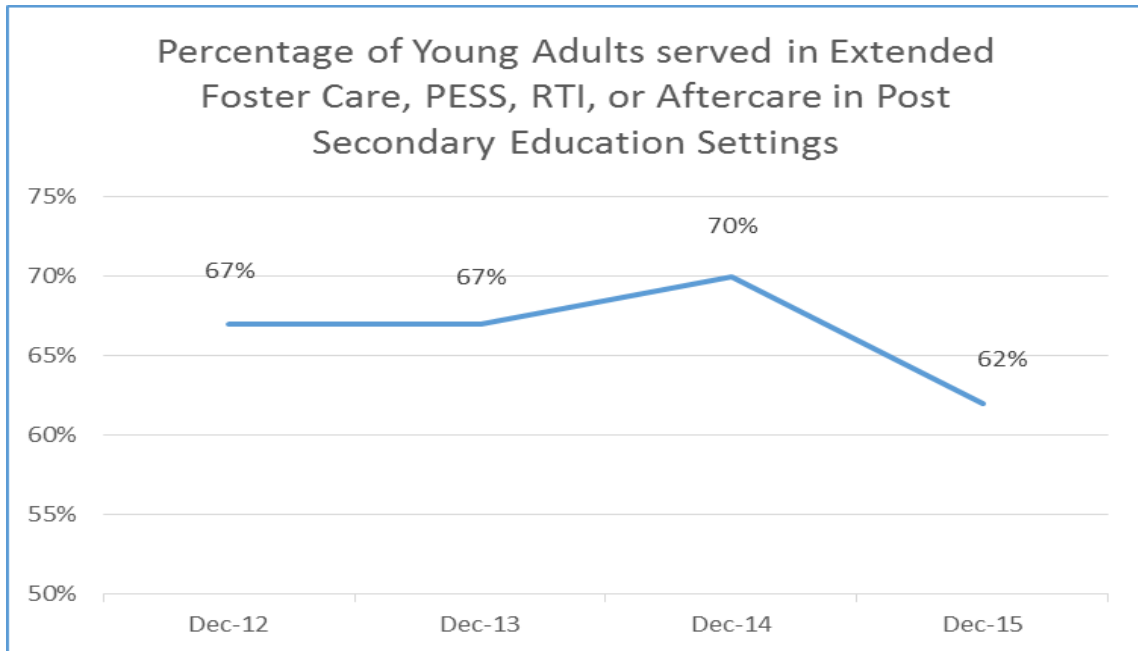

Individual CBC performance regarding education can be seen on the scorecards, under measure number eleven (11) at: <http://www.myflfamilies.com/general-information/planning-performance-measures/cbc-scorecard>. The below chart reports individual CBC performance on this measure for October 2014 through September 2015.

Note: The second column is a subset of the first – of the young adults aging out, x number completed or are enrolled in secondary education, vocational training, or adult education as of their 18th birthday resulting in the performance found in the third column.

The following chart depicts the percentage of young adults served in Extended Foster Care (EFC) and the Road to Independence programs (pre-2014 RTI, PESS, Aftercare) who were enrolled in postsecondary education as of December of each reported year. The decline in postsecondary participation in 2015 was anticipated due to the employment option for EFC eligibility.

IV. Department Oversight

A. Self-Report Surveys

The Federal National Youth in Transition Database [NYTD]

The Foster Care Independence Act (FCIA) of 1999 established the John H. Chafee Foster Care Independence Program, commonly referred to as the Chafee Program, to appropriate state funding for services, supports, and trainings in an effort to better prepare youth in foster care for the transition to adulthood. The FCIA required the Administration for Children and Families to create a National Youth in Transition Database (NYTD) to:

- Track the independent living services each state provides to youth in foster care; and
- Assess each state’s performance in providing these independent living/transition services as measured by the outcomes of youth between the ages of 17-21 who received or are currently receiving these services while in foster care.

The Department contracts with Connected By 25 (Cby25) to administer the surveys and report the results. An overview of each year’s survey responses is published in a report on the DCF website and CBC specific survey data is available to each CBC lead agency through a DCF data portal link. See the attached Appendix for a roll up of survey data available to date.

The Florida Version of My Services

The My Services survey is an online survey tool that is delivered twice per year to youth ages 13-17 who are currently residing in the foster care system. The My Services survey replaced the former paper-based Independent Living Transitional Services Critical Checklist. In 2010, DCF contracted with Cby25 Initiative, Inc. to modify their existing My Services on-line self-report survey tool to include questions specific to Florida's child welfare system. The Florida version of My Services contains questions added by DCF to address the key issues of employment, normalcy and the Quality Parenting Initiative.

The Florida Version of NYTD Plus+

Although the federal NYTD requirement is to survey a cohort of youth at ages 17, 19, and 21, Florida implemented the administration of the NYTD Plus+ self-report survey for all youth ages 18-21 who aged out of Florida's Foster care system. The Florida version of the NYTD Plus+ survey includes the questions in the NYTD Plus+ survey tool developed through the APHSA/Chapin Hall NYTD Initiative as well as questions DCF added from the 2007-2009 DCF IL Checklist survey tool. The Florida version of the NYTD Plus+ has been administered annually since 2011.

B. Contract Oversight Unit Monitoring

During calendar year 2015, the Department's Contract Oversight Unit monitored the CBCs' compliance with independent living requirements, including those found in Chapter 39 and in section 409.1451, F.S.

The Contract Oversight Unit selected cases of youth in foster care and young adults receiving Independent Living Services for file review and determined whether the requirements in Florida Statute and Florida Administrative Code were met. This included a review of eligibility requirements.

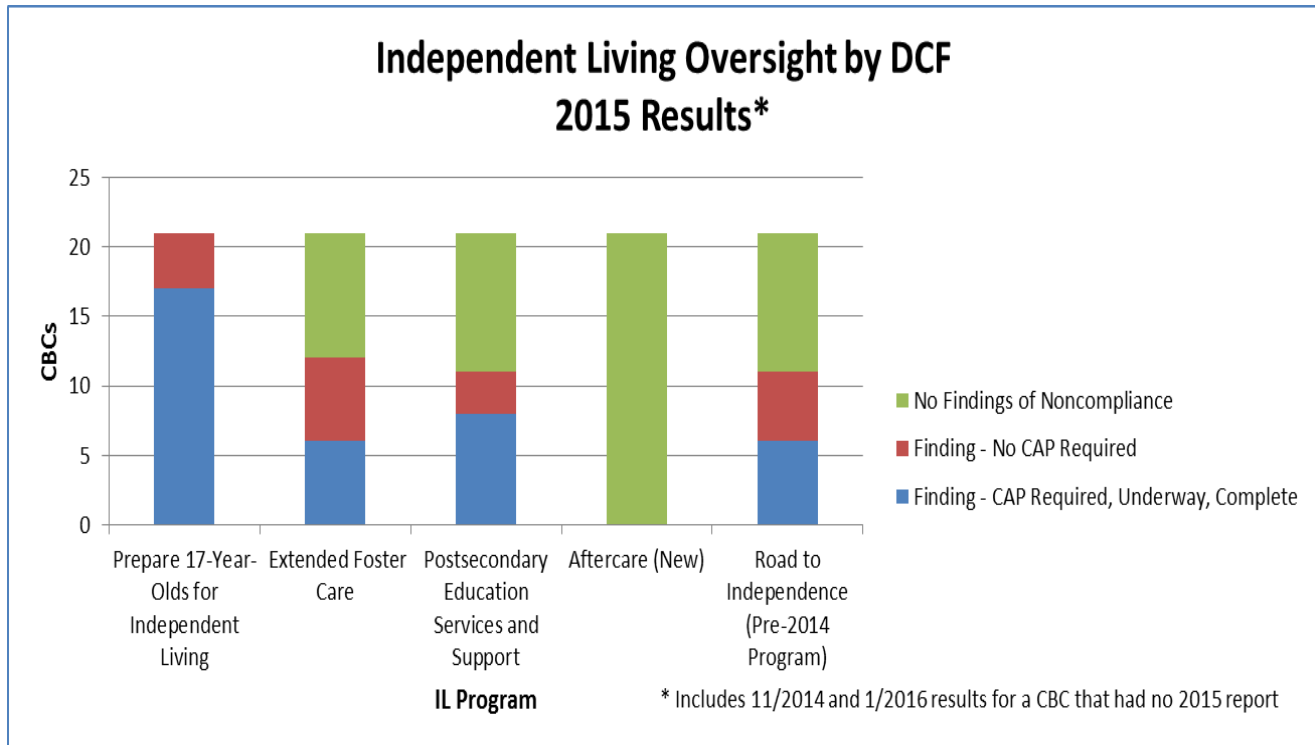

Table 1 (next page) summarizes the monitoring of the CBCs for the 2015 calendar year and the action taken by the Department to address deficiencies. The individual monitoring reports may be requested from the Department of Children and Families.

Table 1: Contract Oversight Results of the Independent Living (IL) Program by Community-Based Care Lead Agency – Calendar Year 2015

20	Children's Network of Southwest Florida	HJ300	One program had requirements not met	Corrective Action Plan underway

Devereux's monitoring fell outside of the 2015 calendar year with their FY 14-15 report issued in late 2014 and the FY 15-16 report issued in early 2016. Both of their monitoring results are therefore included below.

19	Devereux CBC	ZJK85	Some programs had requirements not met	2014 Corrective Action Plan completed
19	Devereux CBC	ZJK85	Some programs had requirements not met	2016 Corrective Action Plan underway

For additional detail from the prior table, the following graph summarizes the overall compliance by CBC with each of the independent living programs, as well as the efforts to prepare 17-year-olds for independent living. The programs for young adults established in Chapter 39 and in section 409.1451, F. S. have been implemented by the CBC agencies with good compliance, but the agencies still struggle with complying with requirements for preparing youth to enter adulthood.

C. Quality Assurance

Florida operates an internal case review process assessing statewide practice performance for the key child welfare areas on at least a quarterly interval. The measures and standards are established by the Administration for Children and Families and focus on Safety, Permanency, and Well-Being. The findings from these reviews are used at the local level to implement quality improvement initiatives that target areas in need of improvement. Youth in out-of-home care are part of a random sample of the child welfare population.

Case reviews are conducted by CBC quality assurance staff who have extensive knowledge and experience in child welfare systems. Findings are reported in annual quality assurance reports which are available for review by CBC lead agency and fiscal year on Florida’s Center for Child Welfare: <http://www.centerforchildwelfare.org/index.shtml>.

The following federal standards and case review results are related to the goals of the Independent Living program.

D. Fiscal Oversight

During the 2015 calendar year, the Department’s Community-Based Care Fiscal Oversight Unit provided technical assistance as needed but provided no on-site monitoring. During the year-end review of expenditures reported to the Department, Department Contract Managers reviewed all Independent Living payments reported by CBC’s for compliance with programmatic requirements related to age, funding sources, and expenditure caps by service. Any payments identified as not in compliance were communicated to CBC’s for correction. No CBC was placed on a corrective action plan resulting from deficiencies identified in their approved cost allocation plan.

V. Rule Promulgation

Provisions relating to the delivery of independent living services are included in multiple chapters of Florida Administrative Code, including:

- Chapter 65C-28, Out-of-Home Care, provides direction for delivery of services to youth in foster care. Specifically, 65C-28.009, Adolescent Services, implements s. 409.1451(3), F.S. This rule became effective May 4, 2006 and is currently under revision. A public hearing was held on January 12, 2016 to discuss proposed rules within Chapter 28.
- Chapter 65C-30, General Child Welfare Provisions, provides direction on delivery of services to youth under supervision of the Department. A notice of change was filed by the Department related to proposed revisions to Chapter 30 on January 6, 2016.
- Chapter 65C-31, Services to Young Adults Formerly in the Custody of the Department, provides direction on the delivery of services to young adults, specifically those provided by s. 409.1451(5), F.S. This chapter has been in effect since 2006. The rules on Aftercare and Transitional Support Services were repealed October 19, 2015 due to statutory changes.

- 65C-41, Extension of Foster Care, provides direction on this program provided by s. 39.6251. This chapter became effective November 2, 2015.
- 65C-42, Road to Independence Program, provides direction for the delivery of Postsecondary Education Services and Support and Aftercare, specifically as provided in s. 409.1451. This chapter became effective October 4, 2015.

VI. Other Activities

A. ILSAC

The Independent Living Services Advisory Council (ILSAC) was created in 2002 by the Florida Legislature and is codified in s. 409.1451(7), F.S. ILSAC has the responsibility for reviewing and making recommendations concerning the implementation and operation of the independent living services for current and former foster care youth, including problems or barriers and successes. The 2015 Report of the Council to the Florida Legislature and the Department included several legislative recommendations and several recommendations for the Department. The full annual report and the Department's response are located on the Department's Independent Living internet site, <http://www.myflfamilies.com/service-programs/independent-living>.

ILSAC membership consists of representatives from the Department of Children and Families headquarters and region offices, Community-Based Care lead agencies, Department of Education, Agency for Health Care Administration, State Youth Advisory Board, CareerSource Florida, Inc., Statewide Guardian ad Litem Office, foster parents, recipients of the Road-to-Independence Program funding, and other advocates for foster children. Other appointed members include representatives from faith-based and community-based organizations, mentoring programs, higher education and the judicial system.

B. Campus Coach Initiative: Florida Reach

Without the attainment of a post-secondary degree or credentials, foster care alumni face the realities of unemployment, homelessness and incarceration in their young adult years. As a result, the Department of Children and Families supports the development of programs specifically designed to help foster care alumni navigate the college experience. Florida Reach is an initiative of the Department designed to improve post-secondary outcomes and career transitions for youth in care and alumni through resources, support, networking and determining collective impact. In the past year, 27 of Florida's public colleges and universities participated in the Florida Reach network and have worked to actively support students from foster care enrolled at their institutions. Currently, Tallahassee Community College, Florida State University, Valencia College, Miami-Dade College and Florida International University have programs designed specifically to serve students who have been a part of Florida's child welfare system.

C. Medicaid Enrollment

The Department coordinates across program offices to match data on young adults who turned 18 while living in care against those receiving Medicaid. The Office of Economic Self-Sufficiency analyzes the data of those who do not match to determine if these young adults have previously been denied coverage. In addition, this office altered their Medicaid application to include a question to identify young adults who aged out of foster care. The Office of Child Welfare works with the CBC's to assure that the young adults receiving Independent Living Services are receiving Medicaid benefits. Efforts have shown that 87% of all young adults ages 18-20 who exited care at age 18 are enrolled on Medicaid and 65% of young adults ages 18-25 are enrolled.

D. Florida Youth Leadership Academy

The Florida Youth Leadership Academy is a leadership development program for teens involved in the child welfare system. The current leadership class is made up of 16 youth from across the state, who will receive extensive communication, strategic sharing, and public speaking training throughout the course of the 10 month program. The skills these youth develop will help them leverage their unique and challenging life experiences as they transition into adult members of our community. The program is jointly sponsored by the Department of Children and Families and Cby25.

E. Youth SHINE

Florida Youth SHINE continues to engage current and former youth in foster care across the state of Florida in advocacy efforts. In 2015, the twelve chapters held numerous local meetings and have partnered with, or served as representatives on, local Youth Advisory/Advocacy Boards. Over the summer, 80 youth had the opportunity to participate in a leadership development camp hosted by the Department of Children and Families. Additionally, in 2015, 10 youth were selected from across the state to complete a digital storytelling project about their experiences in foster care, which will be shared with the child welfare community throughout 2016.

VII. Summary

The Independent Living program area is ever-evolving. The addition of adopted rules for the legislation that became effective January 1, 2014 has provided needed clarity for the CBC's. The field continues to adjust to the new programming requirements and how to best assist youth in their transition to adulthood. Many innovative practices are being employed across the state and the Department strives to provide support for these efforts. The Department is active in its oversight and in key statewide activities as described above.
