SPECIAL PRESENTATION

Liza Zamd, Senior Trial Attorney, U.S. Department of Justice, Civil Rights Division, Immigrant and Employee Rights Section, provided an overview presentation on their Immigrant and Employee Rights (IER) services to the nation. She focuses on the refugee community and how DOJ services and their relationship with other US department can collaborate for the best of all. Some of the topics; specifically cover how employers can hire workers who have not yet received their SSNs, she discuss less traditional employment documents like Transportation Boarding Letters and asylee foils, and ways in which IER can help refugees/asylees beyond the work DOJ do. For example, if a DMV incorrectly rejects an I-94 as proof of status, IER can call the DMV to try to remedy the situation. Similarly, if a bank does not give a refugee/asylee a loan because the person does not have an EAD, IER can call the bank to explain refugee/asylee permanent work authorization. Please see examples of IER outreach materials regarding refugee/asylee issues:
